

Gina Anne Johnnie

Practice

Gina focuses her practice in banking and lending law, creditor's rights, construction, and real estate law.

Gina's background in construction litigation and project financing is an asset in serving financial institutions and efficiently managing complex, multi-state business transactions. Though she enjoys working across many areas of law for clients facing different kinds of legal issues, the bulk of her work is focused on putting together and, if necessary, taking apart large construction financing projects and commercial loans. In addition, she serves as outside counsel to small to medium businesses and assists individual clients on select issues.
